Emotional Integration the Feldenkrais Way

Public Workshop with Donna Ray, February 9, 2020

Movements and emotions are intertwined.

You can sense your throat tightening when you are very sad.

You feel getting hot when you are angry.

And how did the butterflies land in your stomach, anyway?

Join Donna Ray in an afternoon workshop to understand how you can change your mood through movement. Together, you will explore the relationships between sensations, emotions, thoughts and actions. This way, you can take charge of yourself and your vitality through movement.

The Feldenkrais Method was developed as a way to deeply know yourself through gentle, easy movement. This workshop will give you the opportunity to experience yourself in a new way and you will probably have a better understanding of yourself, knowing what you can do to feel well, calm and at ease.
